In the infinite course of time, living strands are inter-twined to create a whole being and meshed to complete the vivid textures of existence. Our strands have been guided by an administration which added strength to the fiber and dimension to the weave. Activities arranged the pattern and varied the texture by which we spun our days. Sports, laughter, that marvelous dance — each entwined a chromatic splendor which would never fade. Never-to-be-forgotten friends and cherished memories heightened the priceless quality of the cloth; cloth no man may buy, but must make himself.

*Hi Tracy
Thanks for your friend ship this year.
God bless you
Terri Thacker*

Principal

guided the strands

As the threads of knowledge mingled with threads of vitality, so did Dr. Call, combining outstanding personality with determination, set forth to gain "More in '64." During the year, through his guidance, students at Granger achieved greater goals and set their pattern in time with ambitions and knowledge.

*Hi there,

Superintendent Elmer Hartvigsen

Dr. Kenneth Farrer

Dr. Orvil England
Dr. Ted T. Peterson

Superintendents

Combined efforts of the Board of Education set the pattern for the school year, 1963-64. These men supervised the appropriations for the year, set standards for dress, and arranged the curriculum. Distinguished leadership of Superintendent Elmer Hartvigsen, Dr. Kenneth Farrer, Dr. Orvil England, and Dr. Ted T. Peterson is a determining factor in the coordination of all Granite District schools.

Counselors

Smoothed the snags of the weave

Through hustle, bustle and mass confusion, our counselors take shreds and put them into the pattern of organization. Their advice and guidance is spun into our lives through our personal experiences and by school activities. Our counselors directed the strands which flowed into the loom.

Faculty

Guided the threads of time

Leadership, experience, and knowledge are the qualities which characterized our outstanding faculty as they led us into new worlds of individual achievement. Their friendly interest broadened our weave of knowledge and gave us a determined will to learn. By their guiding hands we have gained a few more threads of wisdom that time may weave into the fabric of our lives.

Typewriter sounds were the theme songs that echoed through the halls, tapping out the daily routine of the Office Staff. Tireless efforts and refreshing smiles characterized the busy atmosphere at Granger High School.

Left to Right: Mr. Homer E. Wade, Mrs. Morris D. Barker, Mrs. Melvin M. Hall, Dr. John Reed Call and Mrs. Lenord Telford.

Wove parents and teachers closer together

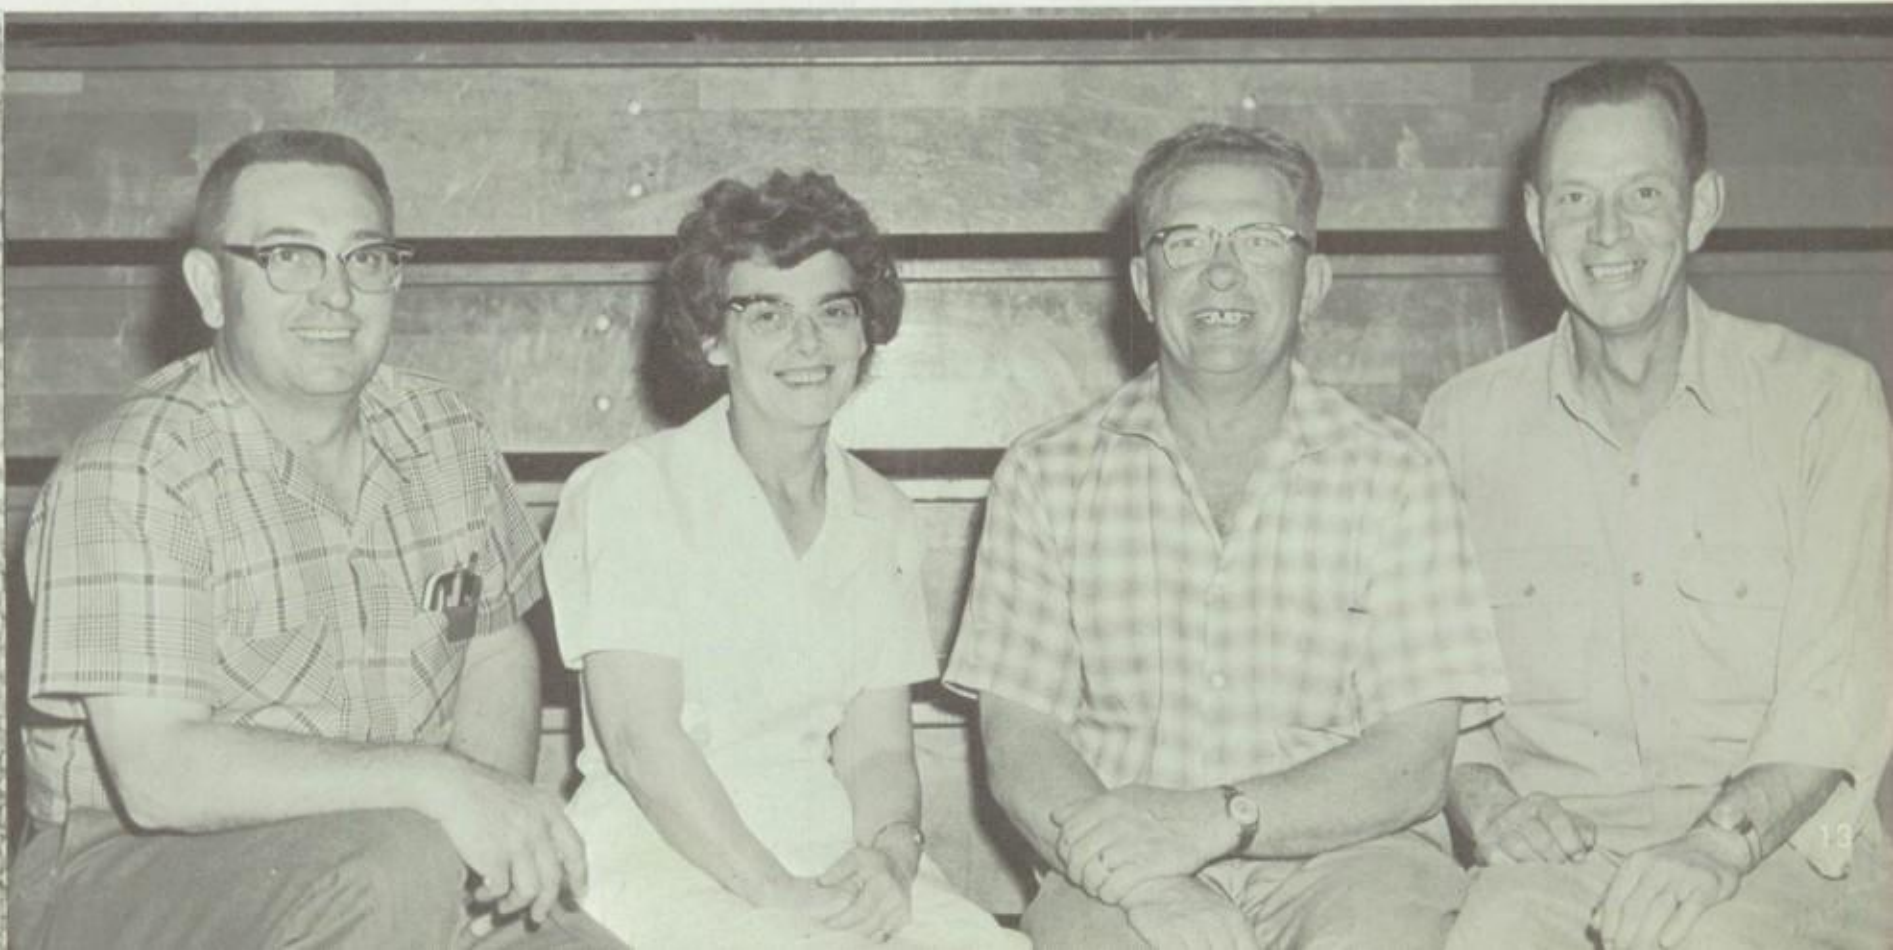

Granger's Parent-Teachers' Association under the direction of Homer E. Wade, helped bridge the gap between parents and teachers. The P. T. A.'s goal is helping to set our school's high standards.

"Ya missed!" echoes the call as Granger's psuedo-basketballers shot for the garbage cans. The floors were coated with lunch bags when the bell rang for fifth period. Then came the great transition: the halls and grounds emerged from beneath the garbage. Our maintenance staff brought the shining halls, sparkling windows, and well manicured grounds to view. With little recognition, our custodians did their work to help keep "Granger on Top."

The fabric's spinning threads spiralled, mingling together in the loom. Some were added for their vibrant hues and others for their undulating texture. These seemed to direct the pattern for those who surrounded them. The students' officers were these threads, for it was they who set the pattern for the student body.

Dear Tracy.
I can't say I know you cause
I don't, Campus But I do know that you're smart ^{was a loom} and cute. Keep it up.
a friend, Paula McQueen

The campus of Granger High was a loom and Time skillfully pulled each differently colored experience across it. These threads, seemingly insignificant at happening, gave immortal life to our gilded fabric.

With efficiency and marked enthusiasm, Dan Leatherwood worked to perform the duties bestowed upon him as student body president. His warm sense of humor proved invaluable in his ability to promote friendships here at Granger and in the surrounding area. Through his magnetic personality, he drew forth the threads that bound the classes together. His influence helped maintain Granger's high goals and standards. His good sportsmanship helped his fellow Lancers to follow the school's motto, "Through Trials to More Glorious Achievement."

The voice of each class is heard in the Student Council. These elected representatives, with the application of the articles of the Granger student body, resourcefully work hard to solve problems. They report the results to their home rooms where suggestions are discussed and weighed in order to better aid our school.

Round Table

added strength to the fiber

Strength was added to the fiber by the Round Table, the legislative body of student government. The Student Body Officers, representatives from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior classes, Girls' and Boys' Teen Presidents, Student Council Advisor, and the Principal, coordinated school events and activities. As a group their duties were making policy decisions concerning student government. The president of the school, Dan Leatherwood, presided. Thanks to their efforts, this year's best activities were organized.

But it is for the wonderful personalities, which have been and will always be a part of every Granger cheerleader, that we will cherish their memories.

Cadet Band

gained experience

Interested, enthusiastic, and talented sophomores became participants in the cadet band. As the fabric of their years at Granger is completed, they bloom into fine musicians, performing for school as well as civic functions.

Dance Band

performed with excellence

Granger's sparkling dance band is tops again this year. Dr. De Verl Hurst draws the musical ability from his talented students, puts their talents together, and achieves exciting dance rhythms.

Representing Granger always in the best ways, this year's Marching Band, with its high stepping gait, was a sure success. They drew high acclaim from all who watched, as they made, with uncanny accuracy, formations for games and parades.

Marching Band

kept spirits high

Orchestra

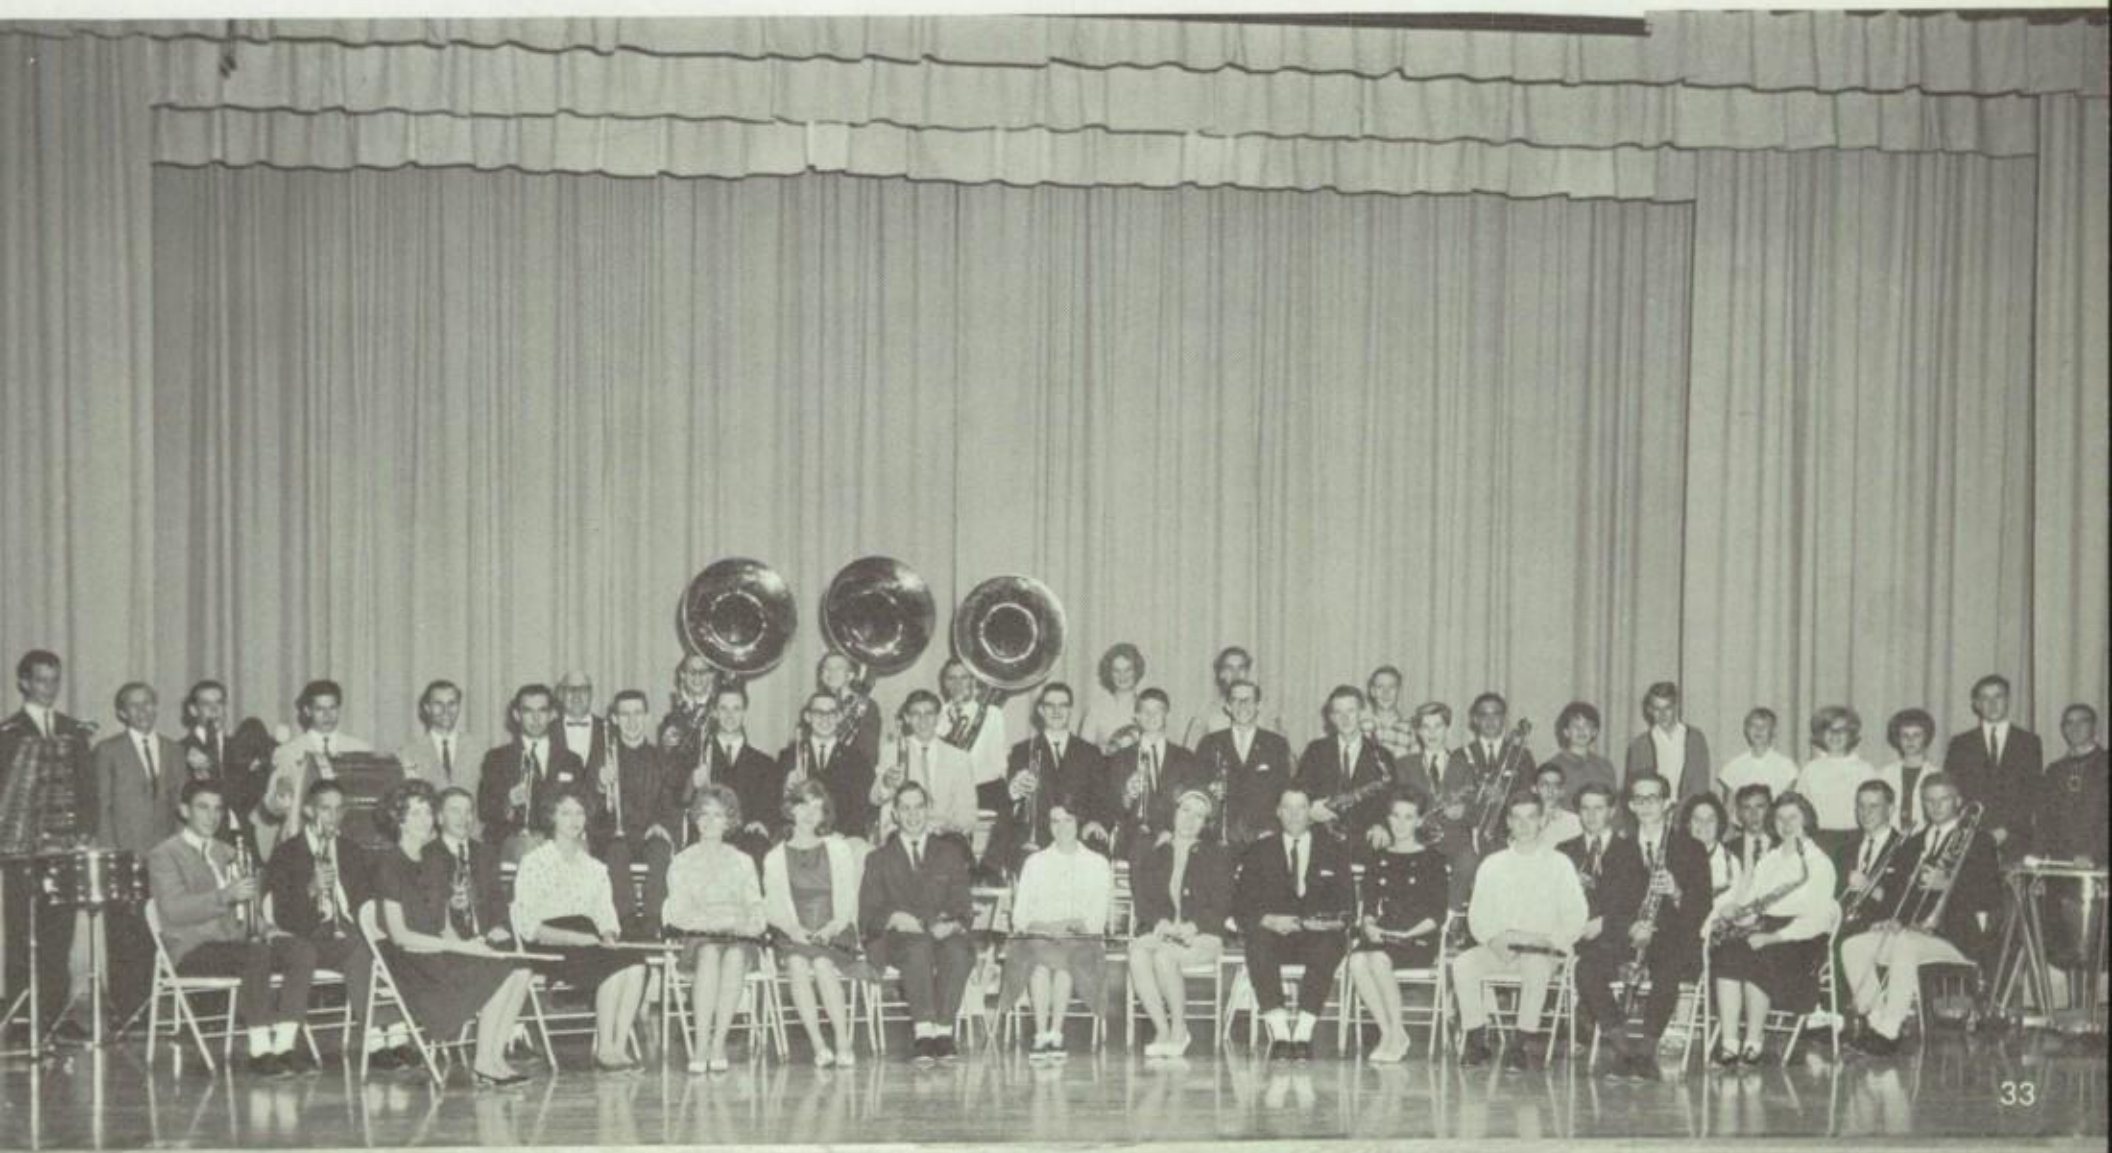

competed in solo ensemble

The orchestra sent forth strains of music which showed skilled perfection, and beauty. Under the influence of Mr. Chatelain, this group has a reputation for quality work.

Concert Band

performed in gala spring concert

The melodic tones played by the concert band, were acclaimed by all to be nothing short of perfection. With the guiding hand of Mr. Hurst, this group accomplished feats which added much to their performances.

Madrigal Singers represented the school

The accomplished voices of the Concert Choir sang this year with the tone and quality of those who have learned through experience the knowledge of music. The choir has gained these accomplishments through the guidance of their competent director.

Commendable television appearances and two successful school-sponsored programs more than justified the effort put forth by Mr. Dean Hailstone and the Madrigal Singers. Their efforts were the results of intensive study to perfect notes, time, and tones.

Concert Choir gained experience through guidance

Junior Choir

appeared in formal attire

Girls of the Junior Choir, attired in blue wool dresses and boys in blue continental jackets, captivated audiences. Their best blended harmonies were brought forth by a talented director, Dean Hailstone.

Boys' Glee

expressed musical enthusiasm

This small group of boys gained experience to graduate into the more advanced groups: Concert Choir and Madrigal Singers. They expressed their enthusiasm and talent through songs rendered in harmony.

Girls' Glee

gained enjoyment from their singing

Lilting tones drifted into the halls each day as the girls used this opportunity to express themselves musically. The choir provided enjoyment and pleasure for many girls of Granger High.

School Play

entertained many adults and students

"You mean germs cause odor, not perspiration?"

A six-foot rabbit named "Harvey" was the star of this year's school play directed by Mrs. Brenda Siddoway.

Laughter followed "Harvey" and his inseparable companion Elwood P. Dowd, played by Mike Walker, as they lived a life of merry misadventure.

The cast portrayed the characters vividly and humorously and the audience responded with marked enthusiasm at a successful school play. And "Harvey," played by himself, of course, performed most admirably.

"You're going to have a what!"

"Harvey and Elwood send their greetings."

"I don't think I saw Harvey?"

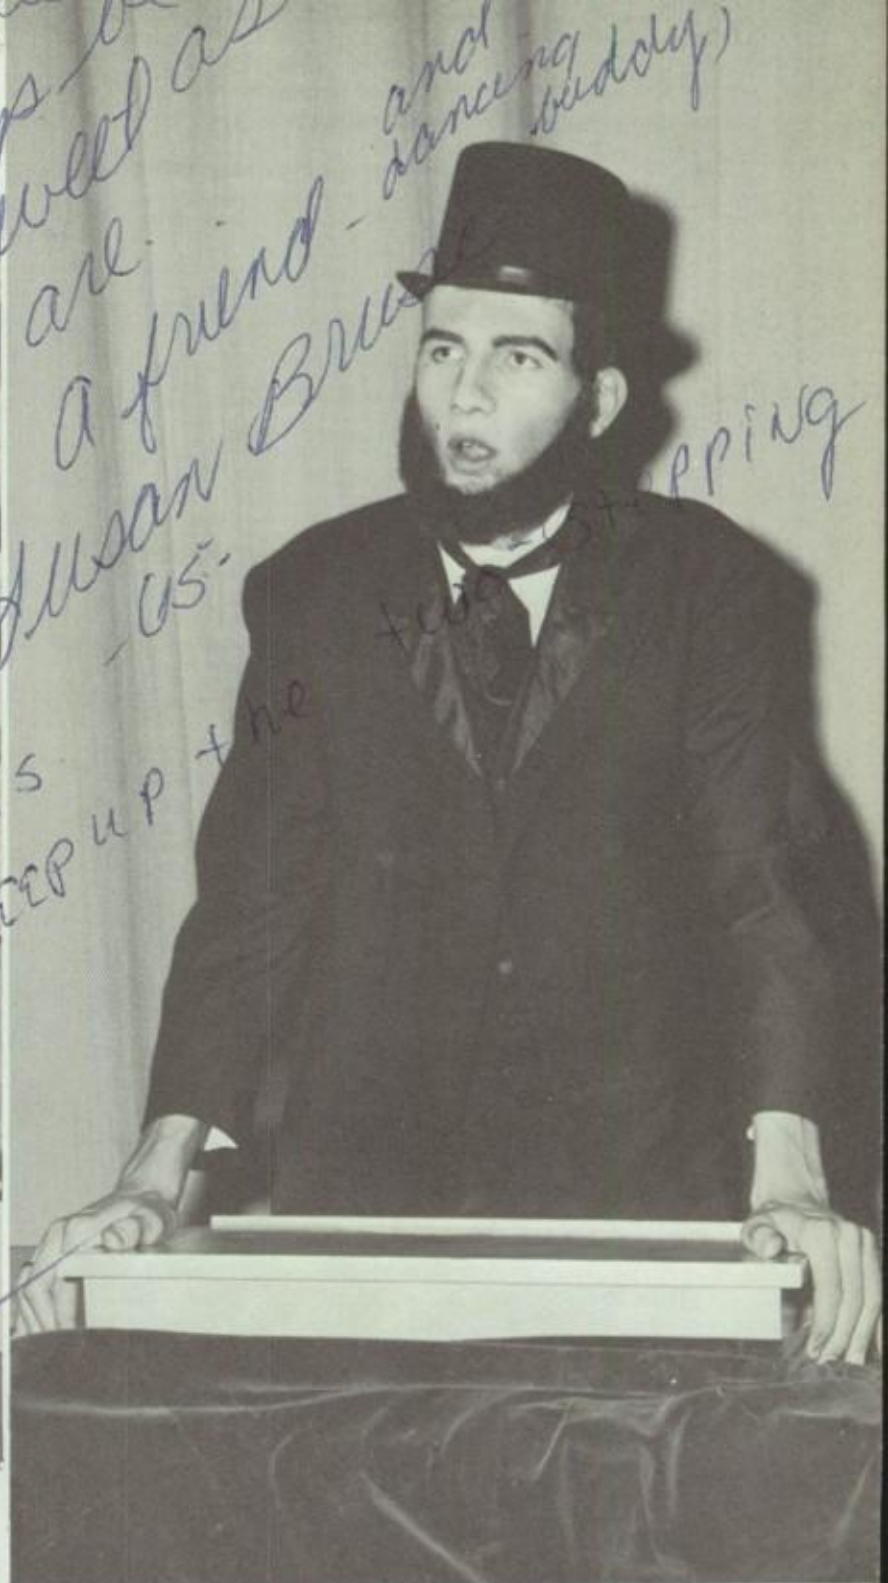

Lancer Ballade

greatest yet

The annual performance of the Lancer Ballade, "Saga of the South" portrayed the heartbreak and tribulations that resulted from the Civil War. Hums, chants, dances, and narrations depicted the trials of the slaves. Also illustrated were some of the social activities devised to lighten the burden of their oppression. The enthusiastic response of the audience rewarded the forceful cast.

Back to just the musical color-

Dance Assembly — "You rang Sir?"

Sophomore Assembly — "Who says I'm not shapely?"

Assemblies provided enjoyment for our student body !

Special Assembly: Victor Jory
 "Let me say this about that!"

Junior Assembly
 "Hey fella your slip is showing!"

Pep Assembly
 "Off we go into the wild blue yonder!"

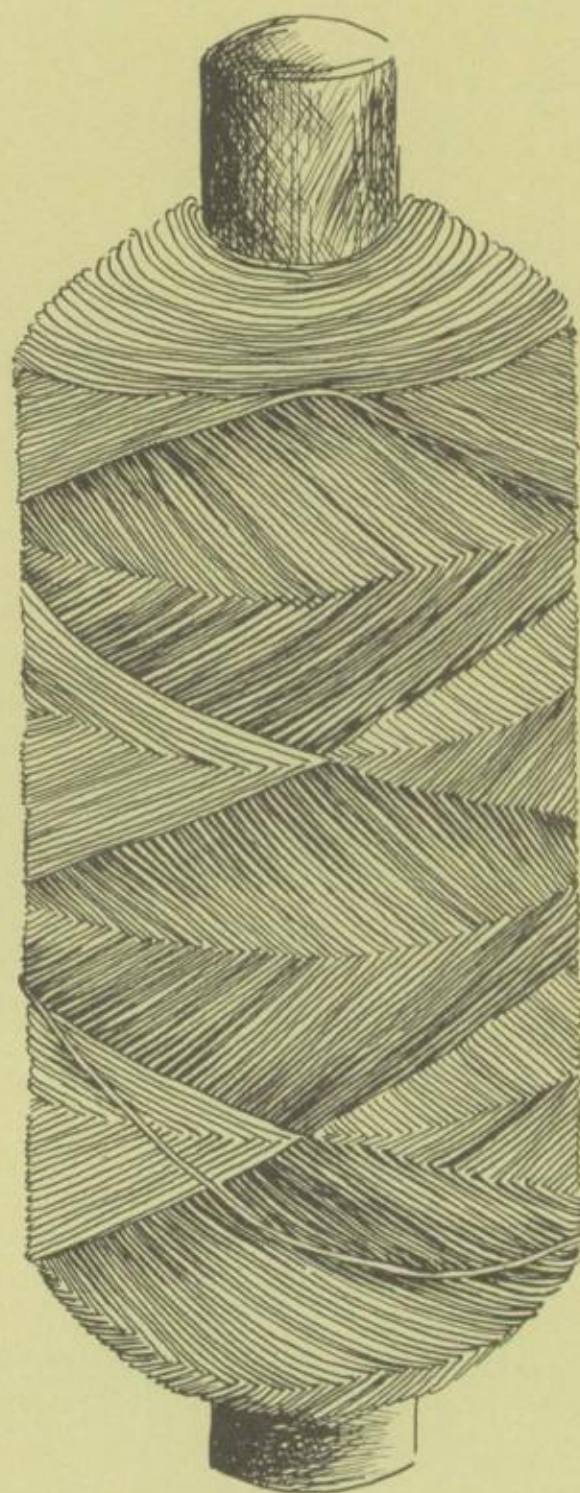

Homecoming: Dr. Gibb R. Madsen
 "Ya wanna see my fast draw?
 Ya wanna see it again?"

ORGANIZATIONS

colored our weave

Organizations added color to our weave. Clubs provided means by which students could improve their talents and also enjoy themselves. Meeting and associating with other students seemed to have more meaning when it happened in the lighter vein of club activity than in the classroom. The great service given to Granger by many of these organizations not only livened Lancer life but also enriched the High School's personality.

At times we've all seen a group of sneaky individuals hiding in trash barrels and behind doors. If you are wondering, they are Granger's Photography Staff snapping pictures to put in The Shield and the Tri-Color Times.

Gayla Wood, Sue Stewart, Barbara Englund, Dennis Rasmussen, Diane Wood, Margaret Pryor, Cheryl Riley, Steven Weighall, Mr. May, Deanna Prusia, Pamela Rudd, Earl Johnson, Sue Edmunds, Sharon White, Danny Leatherwood, Dan Paxton.

With the organized leadership of their president, Cheryl Riley, this group of top-notch Granger Students launched on a never ending task of promoting safety. Their efforts, aided by the state national Safety Councils, encouraged us to obey the rules and laws designed for our benefit.

Ushers

furthered Granger's reputation

Credit should be given to this club for the successful control of conduct in our assemblies. They were present at all of the performances to help maintain the good reputation of our school. The matching sport coats of all the members added a touch of dignity to their job.

Coordinating lights, music, scenery, and confusion in the highest degree, our stage crew helped engineer some of Granger's most smoothly operated assemblies. Students were greatly pleased with the results as they witnessed and thoroughly enjoyed the results of many hours of tedious work and time-consuming effort.

Latin Club

studied Latin, the dead language

Under the influence of Miss Palfreyman, the sponsor, and the leadership of President Greg Larson, the Latin Club members studied the mother of modern languages, Latin. They attended films, held a banquet, and studied Roman history to round out a successful year.

Spanish Club

hables espanol?

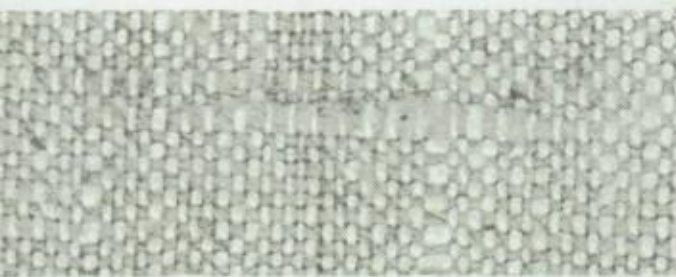

This year's Spanish Club membership enjoyed the unique privilege of another year under the guidance of the renowned Mr. Campos. Excursions to the University of Utah, for films and lectures, and visits to his home provided extra-curricular amusement.

French Club

The French Club sampled French cuisine with the help of Chef Campos, attended a French company's production, and participated in exterior decorating to complete this club's busy year.

German Club

planned a fun-filled year

A full program of activities has given the German Club and its members a chance to gain an understanding of Germany, its customs, traditions, and language. Frau Irvine directed.

Drama Club

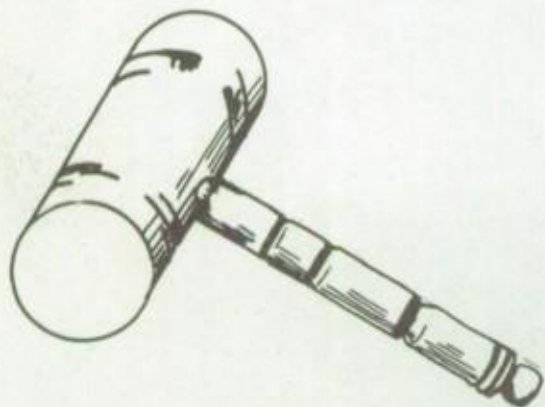

portrayed actors and actresses

A successful school play was the most applauded performance given this year by the Drama Club. Mrs. Siddoway, assisting her "Sarah Bernhardts" and "John Barrymores," produced admirable results.

The Debate Club members of this year can boast of an enlarged knowledge of the issues which puzzle even the most astute politicians and learned men of our times, for only through much research could they successfully participate in the debate meets throughout the area.

lent a helping hand

Assembling a hope chest to send overseas and heading a donation drive are only two of the many helpful services and useful activities which the Red Cross members perform. Directing them in these good will programs are Carolyn Cooper, President, and Miss Roundy, Sponsor.

Under the supervision of Mr. Haacke, Sponsor, and Dana Drenkowski, President, the U.N. Club members achieved better understanding and a keener insight on the United Nations. Their representation of Cambodia, "Brazzaville" Congo and New Zealand proved their diligent work at the Model United Nations this year.

The Future Homemakers of America began another successful year with the traditional candlelight ceremony, under the competent sponsorship of Mrs. Floisand and Mrs. Kobyashi. The main goal was to encourage each girl to start on items for her hope chest. Other highlights included the sponsoring of the Harvest Ball, and special guest speakers. These events made the year enjoyable for all of those who participated.

F. T. A. were interested in education

With sponsor Earl Maeser and president Janett Munro the Future Teachers of America Club had weekly meetings, films and special speakers. Mr. Maeser, who comes from a family of notable educators, showed the advantages to be found in an educational profession, a noble profession of rising importance which is today gaining a status like that of a doctor or lawyer.

For support of the Utah Symphony Orchestra the Symphony Sub-Debs have been organized in the valley high schools. These associations encourage musical and cultural interest in their areas. Besides attending almost all of the Utah Symphony performances, they sponsored fashion shows, teas and dances. Sponsor: Mr. Chatelain. President: Linda Cropper.

Tumbling Club

tumbled their way to physical fitness and coordination

The girls of the tumbling club were most often viewed as a mass of tangled arms and legs. They could be seen after school working hard on the trampoline to build co-ordination and physical fitness.

On Utah's many slopes Granger's Ski Club worked hard on developing style. Throughout the winter months, in spite of broken bones and bruised bodies fun was had by all who ventured out.

Color and texture was added to the weave as our pencil-packing artists helped with assemblies and games. Throughout the year projects were completed which added to the enjoyment of activities around the campus.

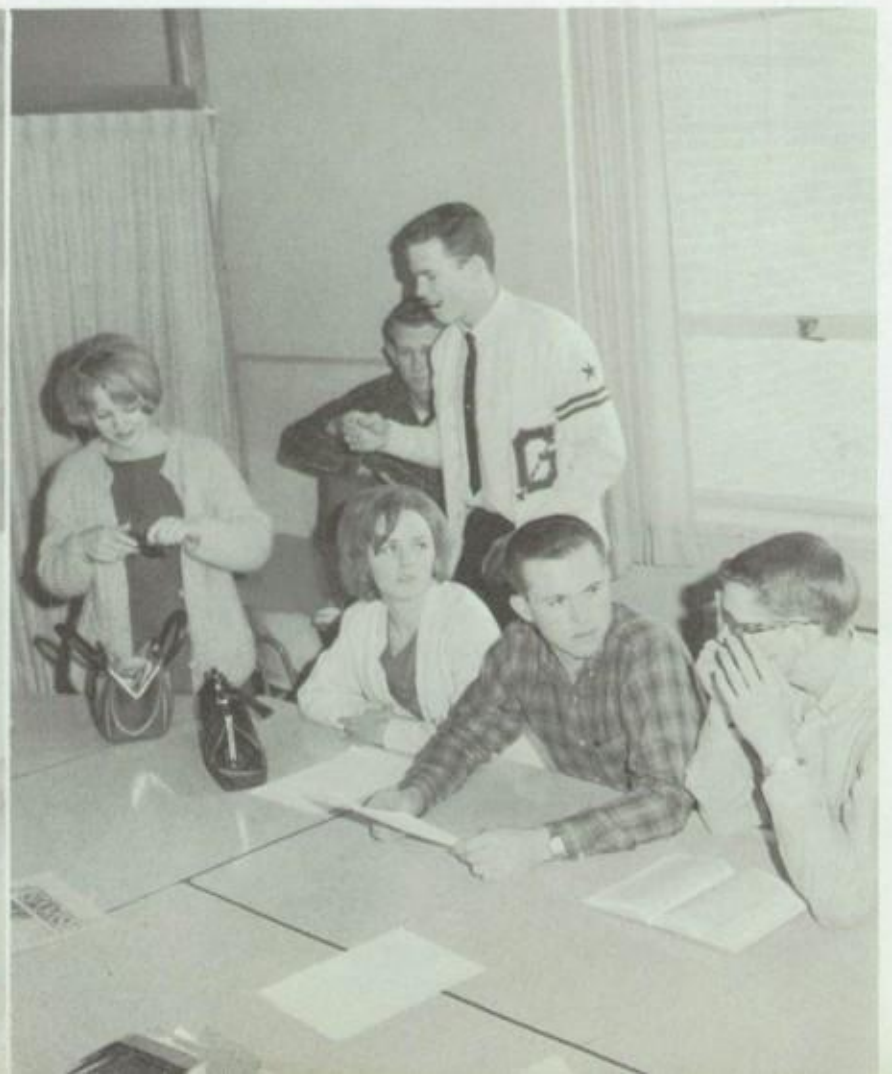

This year's bowling club worked harder to better aims and averages. Under the guidance of Mr. May and Miss Roundy, helpful tips were offered to achieve perfection. Teams competed against each other for trophies at the end of the year.

Homecoming

commemorated "good ole days"

Charming, petite Susan Orr reigned with her lovely attendants Marsha Blake and Marilyn Johnson, over the festively decorated Homecoming Dance. Past acquaintances joined with Lancers in an evening made for nostalgia.

Harvest Ball

scene of enjoyment

"Harvest Holiday" was the setting for Lancers, who danced among autumn leaves to enjoy friendship as well as rhythmic music. Varied tones of fall colors mingled to form an atmosphere of dancing enjoyment.

mingled heaven with earth

You enter through heaven's golden gate into a land of wonder and enchantment. At once you are swept up in a whirl of pink, blue, and silver, which blend together to form the softness and beauty of the wonderland you have found. A spiral staircase, reaching into high above, has mingled heaven and earth with delicate clouds, which surround earth's possessions. A throne, set between pillars of silver, awaits the crowning of a queen who will complete the picture of "Heaven on Earth."

Senior Dance

the last dance presented by the class of '64!"

Santa, reindeer, and loads of Christmas cheer coincided with Yuletide festivities. With the theme of "The Night Before Christmas," the seniors outdid themselves in displaying their talents as highly experienced decorators and dance planners. The memories of this year's senior ball will long live in the memories of those who attended it.

Sophomore Ball

first experience in dance planning

With "Winter Enchantment" the theme and Marilyn Martinson the queen, the class of '66" presented its first dance of the year. Shades of blue and white enhanced the walls and ceiling, while a snowman center piece kept a peaceful vigil over the entire enchanted evening. Photo courtesy of Deseret News Publishing Company.

Football Dance

football memories

Memories of an exciting touchdown, a thrilling victory, and many other moments fill your mind as you arrive at the Mr. Football Dance. New memories are now formed of a wonderful evening, climaxed with the presentation of a new Mr. Football.

Granger lasses proudly escorted their chosen ones into what was truly cupid's own dreamland. As strains of music set them into motion, a maze of hearts whirled by them. With the choosing of Granger's most preferred boys, it was truly, "A Night to Remember."

HONORS

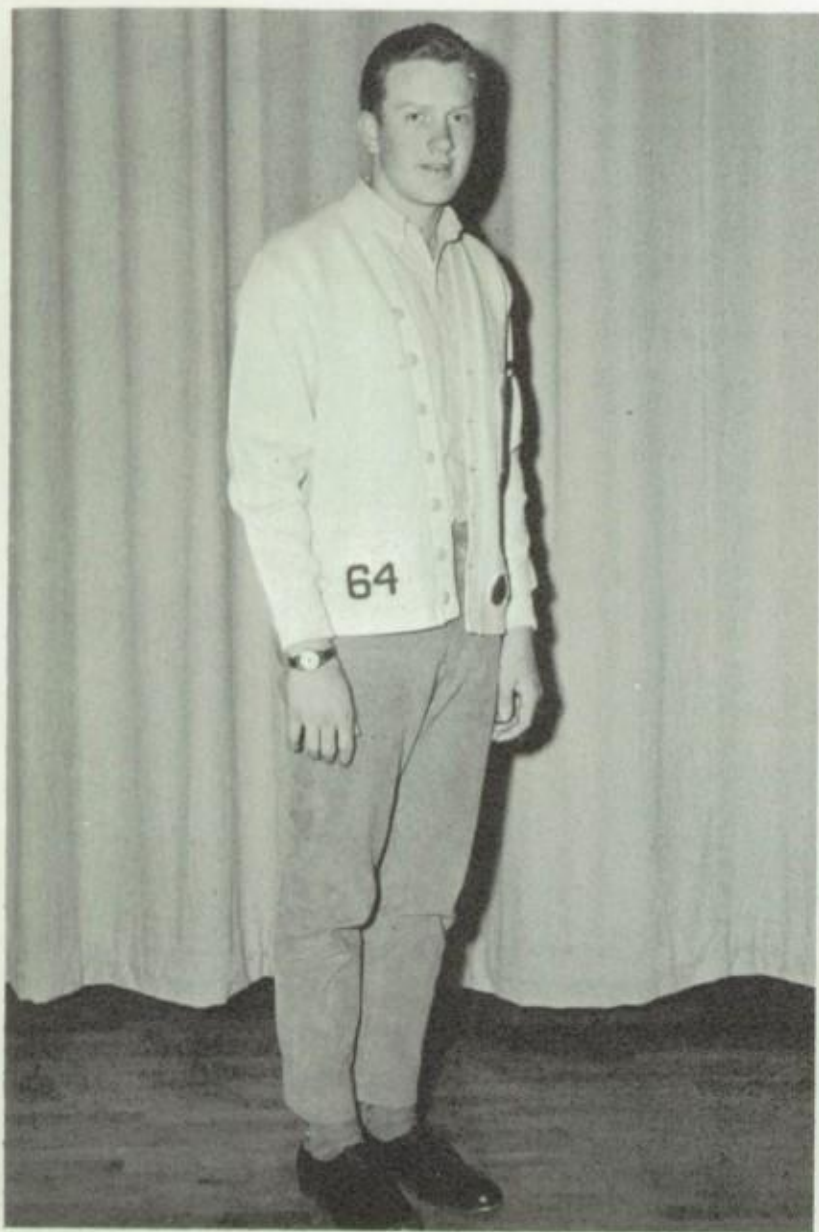

The fabric is realized, woven carefully with a richness of texture, depth, and vivid pattern. In weaving, the quality of excellence is imbued by those whose natural talents have been elicited through perseverance, that brings some to the full realization of their abilities. In scholarship, students attained honors that fulfilled their goals; but more important, they served to enrich the loom, our campus, and the lives of all who pass through. Fine arts, an element of new dimension, added delight. Together, students explored the pleasures to be found in sounds, in words, and in creativity. Sports tested bodies; it sought the strength to be found there; it issued a challenge that only a few could answer. All remained part of the weave, but a few emerged superior and imparted their gift to all of us.

Lance Club

thrilled us with donkey basketball games!

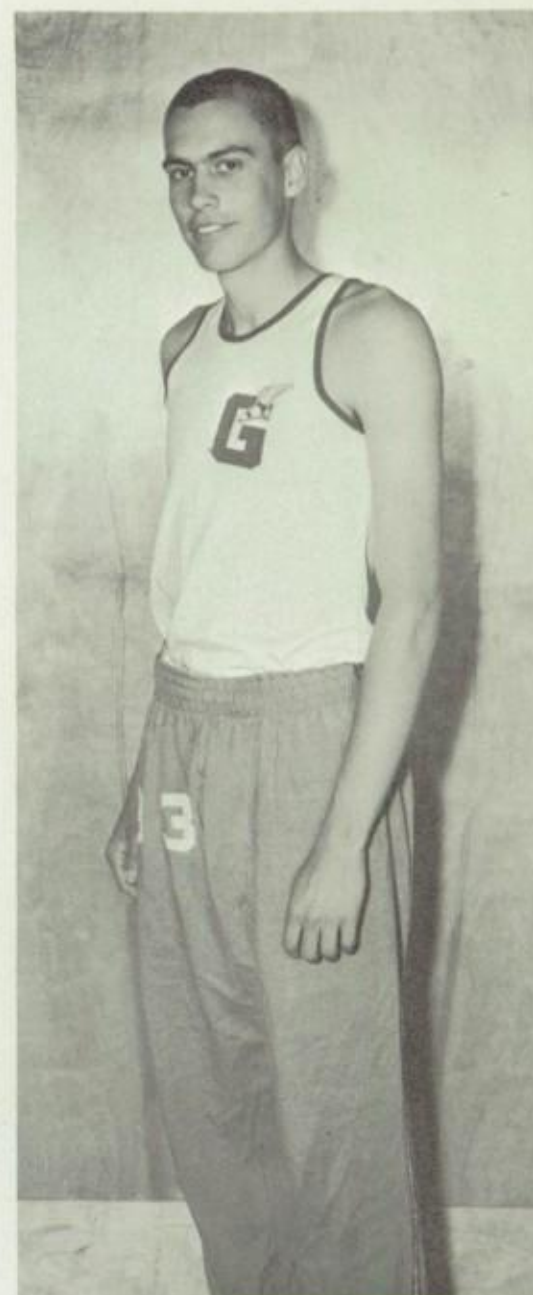

Our Lance Club was made up of all the lettermen at G.H.S. Don Coats was President with Jack Draxler as Vice. The purpose of this club was to promote good conduct among lettermen and to better represent Granger at games and extra-curricular activities. We were proud of these individuals who worked hard to uphold Granger's tradition of good sportsmanship and fair play.

Athletic Honors

were earned through all the seasons

Strength and endurance was added to the weave by the outstanding athletes of Granger High. Major and minor sportsmen worked diligently for their Lancer Letter. Their individual sports had to be upheld by a high scholastic average. In football Steve Davis, Don Coats, Delbert Viall, Don Wiley, Pat Struhs, Dan Leatherwood, and Paul Jacobs were outstandingly noteworthy. Joe Winrow, Gill Mullens, and Jim Paulk deserve commendation for their winning a place in Region and going on to the State Tournament. In wrestling, Ron Case and Boyd Calderwood placed first in Region. Bob Buckley and Dave Parker both should be highly commended for their performance at the State matches. During the swimming season, Trent Harrison, Johnny Morriss, Brent Williams and Harold Short did well in their individual aquanaut roles. Ken Nelson and his free and easy style of diving earned him a number one spot on the team. When spring finally made it to S.L.C., Steve Player put on his jumping shoes for track and went out and broke his own high jumping record. Through all four seasons, Granger did outstandingly well in sports as our sportsmen gave more in '64."

Music Honors

awarded for superior performance

Creative students explored the realms of laughter, fantasy and melancholy mingled in the strains they created. They opened new horizons of pleasure and learning. They experienced the joys of the highest art form, music. Tom Case was one of the most active of music students. He served as first cellist in the Granite Youth Symphony and as Asst. Concert Director in All-State. Tom is also a member of the String Quartet whose other members are Linda Cropper, Carla Berry and Irene Hatton. This energetic group has performed on numerous occasions, not only in Granger, but elsewhere in the valley. Another group consists of Steve Petersen, Ed Johnson and Wally Lloyd who have performed outstandingly. Also rendering their harmony was the Rex Baird Trio consisting of Mike Kirk, Rex Baird and Brent Miller. Steve Petersen, Ed Johnson, Wally Lloyd and Linda Cropper are individuals that have exhibited their talents in the field of music.

ATHLETICS

Time worked a little extra to weave for us a uniform. It was her strongest material and was made with great effort. We wore it hard, and we wore it well, and we came out of the fracas to wear it proudly. Granger has always had a more than successful year in athletics. We have had some of the State's great coaches, and we have always had a great abundance of enthusiastic young athletes. Now that time has settled us down and given us some history in athletics, nothing will halt Granger's upcoming teams.

The Coaches

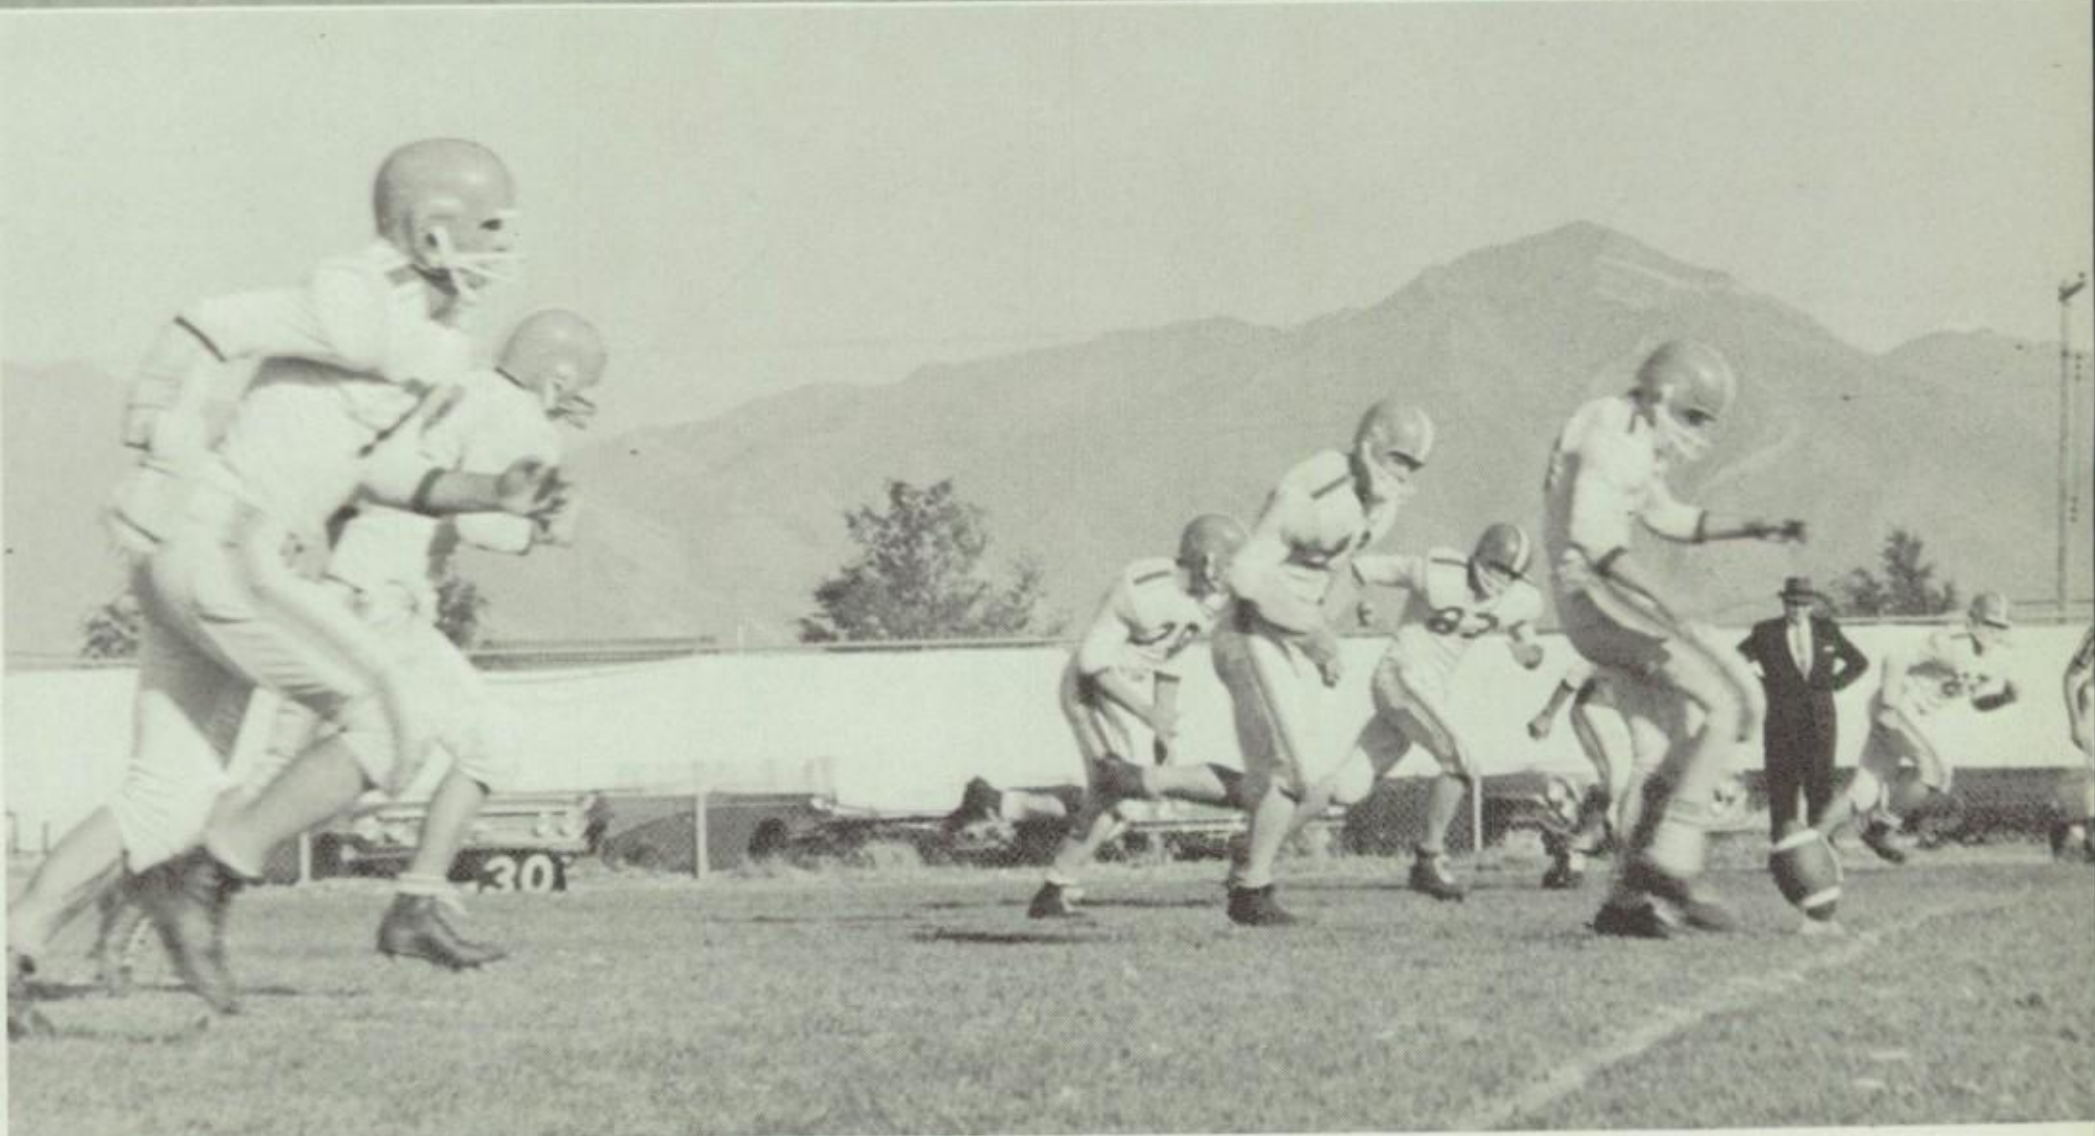

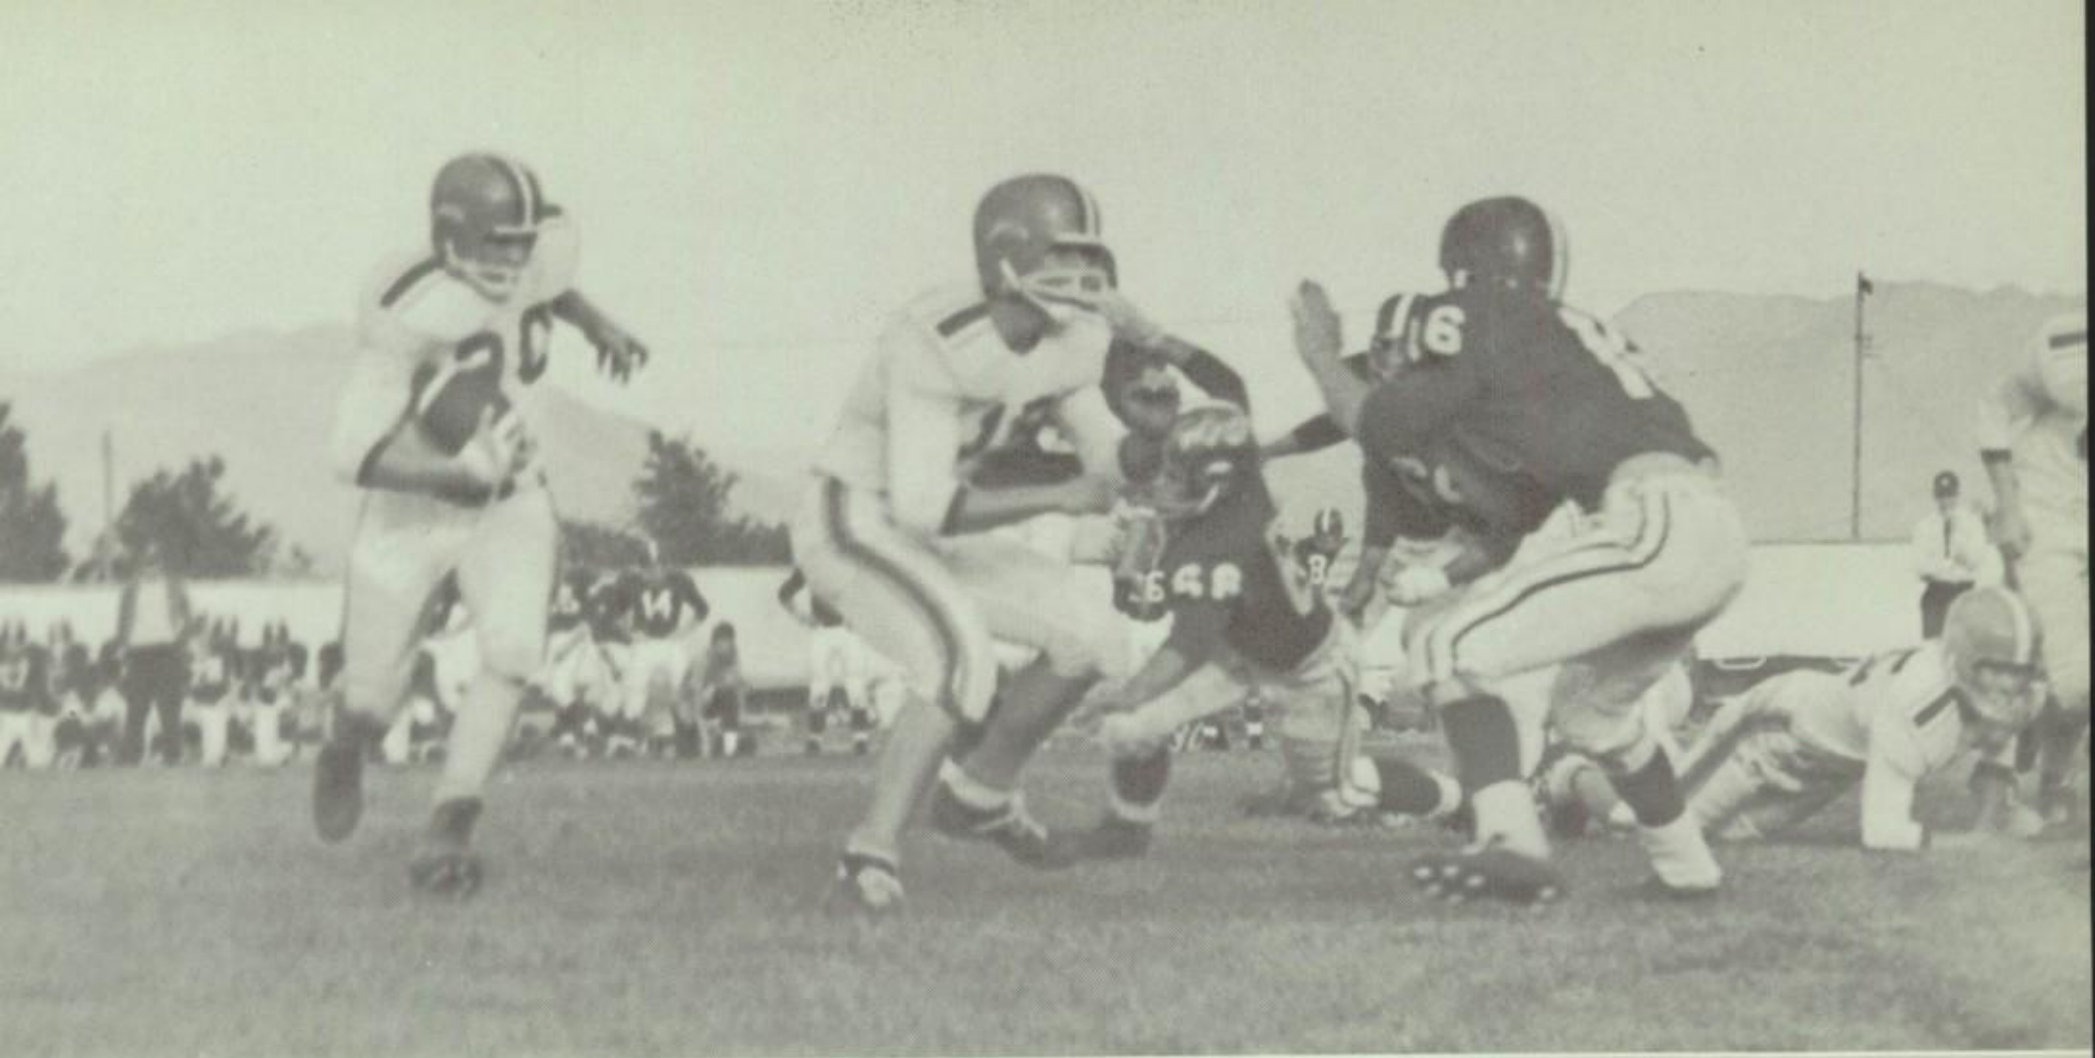

generalled athletics

The Granger High School coaches have sought diligently to produce a team to represent the students by instilling within their athletes the same understanding and skill that they derived through years of their own experience. As men of personable character, they readily made friends; too, their leadership, when needed, was never lacking. The Granger students can well be proud of their coaching staff.

Football

started off the year

Exhibiting the true loyalty that all Granger students feel, the Lancer's team fought bravely and proudly throughout the entire season. Despite the team's efforts they met with many heartbreaking near-wins. However, no matter how bitter the loss, it never seemed to break the team's high spirits. All was not dark on the gridiron. The Lancers battled their way to victory over Hillcrest and Clearfield High Schools.

successful first year

Look forward to two great basketball teams in the next two years. If this year was any indication of what is to come, Granger should be represented in the State Tournaments the next two years. Wrestling brought recognition to Granger

Boyd Calderwood, Ron Case and Dave Parker all took first place in their weights in Region four.

This year was certainly no exception of all the years by upholding the tradition of producing an outstanding wrestling team. As anticipated, Granger had a very strong team for second place in Region, under Bingham and tied with Jordan, and taking eighth place in State rankings. Six wrestlers represented the team in the State meet.

Dale Gleaves, fourth place; Bob Buckley, second place; and Keith Bergstrom, fourth place in the Region meet.

The inconvenience of no pool didn't dampen the spirits of Granger's swimming team. Getting up at five a.m. on practice mornings was another difficulty squarely faced by these aquanauts. Our boys did well this year, placing third in Region Four and tying for eighth place in State. This tireless team should be commended for their achievements.

Tennis

exciting and lively sport

The tennis team moved glaciers of snow off the courts time and again in order to practice before their first meet. This year's team, made up mostly of juniors, performed well in the Region, despite some of their more seasoned opponents. Coach Christensen did a very fine job with his players, and next year we can look forward to a great year for tennis at Granger High.

Golf

sport of skill

Golf, a fairly new inter-high school competitive sport, has just this year seemed to gain the momentum rightly due it. Come spring, and go snow, some three score young club wielders hit the golf greens this year. In an air of congeniality, Coach Thayne led his junior exec type student athletes to represent their school with victory. Next year should be another great year if our golf traditions are followed.

When the sun comes a little north each day before going west and stays longer in the sky; when the days are warm and the grass is green, the attention of the sports spectator is directed to baseball. Granger, traditionally strong in baseball, this year produced an exceptionally talented and well seasoned team. Only eight players of last year's team did not return to play again this year. Under the supervision of Coach Smuin and Coach Rasmussen, Granger showed everyone that when we say "baseball," we aren't speaking lightly.

Coach Greiner

Coach Mays

Although seemingly pushed into obscurity by the major sports, football and basketball, track is one of the most popular spring sports. This year the track program at Granger included high jumping, pole vaulting, discus and javelin throwing, and broad jumping, as well as the more familiar foot races. The track coaches this year were Coach Greiner and Coach Mays, both of whom have done a commendable job.

wove their tomorrow by deeds of today

Time was truly the master weaver as he wove the fabric from threads of courage, integrity, intellect, loyalty, and friendship. The thread of incentive fashioned a life filled with ambition to achieve success. The graduating class of 1964 has entwined these threads within their memories through those who constantly fed the loom, those leaders, both student and adult, who inspired them to acquire a purpose in life whose prerequisites were intense effort, constant work, and time, the master weaver of all achievements. With decided goals in mind, Granger High's largest class worked through the year to higher achievements. Instead of letting their size be a hindrance, the Juniors used it as an aid to make each event a bigger success. Their radiant Junior Prom highlighted the varying activities. Enthusiastic class officers led the Junior Class to the threshold of 1965. Craig Bam-brough, President; Russell Brooks, Vice-president; LaVel Bennion, Secretary; Sue Edmunds, Round Table Representative.

Hi Tracy,
This has really been a fun year
you a real sweet person to know & be with.
Lots of luck in all you do.

Love ya,
Mary Jo,
Bannhurst

Hi Tracy,
You are a really sweet girl & I have enjoyed your friendship.
May all your goals & ambitions be accomplished.

The Class of '66," as new threads, entered the loom. Led by their class officers, Mike Thompson, Steve Hesse, Marilyn Martinson, and Sharyn White, they wove together many exciting activities that involved the entire student body. Their assemblies and their dance proved them to be set for the pattern of things to come.

Hi Tracy, your has this year has been really good. I am really glad to see you. I hope you will be a friend
next year. Love
Tiki

Hi Tracy,
It was real fun making Mrs. Oton yell at us and call us names. I will never be a bookkeeper - I'm sure you won't either. girl
You're a real sweet girl
Have fun next year.
Love
Forraine Betty

Dear Tracy, sure this is your best year. I hope you will be successful always.
Love
Vicki Lynn Higham
P.S. I'm 5'6" 120 lbs.

Hi Tracy,
It sure has been fun getting to know ya this year. I wish you all the luck and success in the world.
Be Good, & come to see me sometime.
Love ya,
Chris Gibbons

"When Lilacs Last in the Dooryard Bloom'd"

by Walt Whitman

VI

Coffin that passes through lanes and streets,
Through day and night with the great cloud darkening the land,
With the pomp of the inloop'd flags, with the cities draped in black,
With the show of the States themselves as of crape-veil'd women standing.
With processions long and winding and the flambeaus of the night,
With the countless torchs lit, with the silent sea
of faces and the unbear'd heads,
With the waiting depot, the arriving coffin, and the somber faces,
With dirges through the night, and with the thousand voices rising strong and solemn,
With all the mournful voices of the dirges pour'd around the coffin,
The dim-lit churches and the shuddering organs —
where amid these you journey,
With the tolling tolling bell's perpetual clang,
Here, coffin that slowly passes,
I give you my sprig of lilac.

Dear Tracy.
It has been fun knowing you this year. You're a real sweet girl

Best of luck
Deanne Nation

Tracy,
You sure are cute. Be sure to keep your warm personality and friendly smile. Be good. This summer
I better see ya. a friend
